

Let us look at the specific tasks which our triumphant faith in education imposed on our schools. The first and greatest was to enlighten our citizenry in a manner which would enable them to take their place in the new world. And the generation shall forever be encouraged, "And the generation of mankind, schools and the means of education necessary to good government and the happiness of 1787: "Religion, morality and knowledge being society. So declared the great Northwest Ordinance of 1787: "Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged." And the generation that fought the Revolution had energy enough left to create a dozen new colleges, establish state universities and provide for common schools by munificent land grants,

"American Education" (continued)
Page 2.

Page 3.

BASKETBALL NEWS.

By Mrs. B. Horbin.

On 13th July, Sugar Shacks defeated Hondels by 23 goals to 18 goals. The winning team is proving the second strongest team this season, with a strong field of seasoned players. However, they have been seriously hampered by the regular absences of odd players. This has hindered the final results, as, when a fresh, untrained player has to "fill in", the team becomes seriously weakened.

Rebels defeated Thunderbirds by 8 goals, the score being 20-12. This was a very disappointing game, and lacked a lot of the usual fire. On this night Thunderbirds had to seek the aid of outside players who were too young and inexperienced to meet the opposition. Rebels played half-heartedly, and were satisfied as long as they "kept their nose in front". This makes for a very dull game.

-----00000000-----

LAUGH AWHILE.

The Sunday-school was describing how Lot's wife looked back and turned into a pillar of salt, when a little boy interrupted. "My mother looked back once while she was driving," he announced triumphantly, "and she turned into a telephone pole!"

-----000-----

"For goodness' sake!" a surprised wife exclaimed to her husband. "Why are you taking a suitcase this morning? Are you going away?"

"No!" the husband replied. "But I heard you talking about the church giving a rummage sale, so I'm taking my clothes down to the Office until it's over."

-----000-----