

Entertainment (Continued)

These competitions are very popular and provide a day out for those taking part. Here is a picture of some of the boats and competitors leaving the shore.

VISUAL EDUCATION.

There is nothing more powerful in the field of education as the showing of pictures. We call this visual education.

Many of our people lack the ability to fully to appreciate what they read or hear simply for want of some educational background. So, through the medium of our picture shows, whether they are movies, stills or talkies, we are gradually giving our people something to build upon and visualize on.

In our local school we have both the still or film-strip projector and a talkie movie; and the fund of general knowledge that is steadily accumulating in the minds of our girls and boys is amazing. This has been revealed through their compositions they now can write, and the readiness with which they can and do discuss various topics.

Educational films are obtained from the Department of Public Instruction each month, and these are retained for two weeks or longer during which time they are shown to the children several times.
